And What Have You

By BOB CRAIG

With Thanksgiving coming tomorrow—at least most of the subscribers to the Herald will receive their paper on Wednesday—we would like to share with you the following editorial from The Graham Leader. It is entitled "Caesar and God."

"Earlier this month millions of Americans went to the pol's to cast their ballots. It was a simple citizen's duty, but it was obviously misconstrued in some political quarters. From some of the oratory we got a definite impression that November 8 wasn't election day at all, but Thanksgiving — and grateful voters were expected to express thanks in a tangible way for protection from poverty, and for steady employment, high wages, long life, health and happiness, for care in infirmity. All emanating from the politicians, naturally.

"If ambitious, and possibly well-meaning, politicians want to confuse election day and Thanksgiving there can be no serious objection. They habitually confuse things. But we don't think that Americans generally will mistake one day for the other. With few exceptions, most Americans are well aware that the blessings they have that really count don't originate in Washington or in any State capital

"You might say they see here a clear separation of Church and State. And having rendered unto Caesar whatever tribute was due him on November 8, Americans will recognize Thanksgiving for what it truly is: a time to render unto God the thanks that are due Him for the many blessings He has seen fit to bestow upon us.

"There is no need to try to inventory these. Some we all enjoy in common while others are spread among us in greater or lesser measure. For example, all those reading these lines are blessed with the gift of life. Not all are blessed equally with good health. But all of us owe thanks to the Creator Who has substained us to this Thanksgiving.

"This is not intended as a Thanksgiving prayer, for such prayer is a personal matter. Rather it is just a reminder that this is the special time, unique in our country, for giving thanks 'to Him from Whom all blessings flow.'

"We hope that you will be able to spend Thanksgiving in the company of family and friends most dear to you. It's been our experience over the years that Thanksgiving had more meaning if it took three or four pumpkin pies to serve everybody."

"Which states turn out the best highschool students?" According to a report by The Council for Basic Education in Washington, D. C., as reported in this past Sunday's edition of "Parade" Texas surely was not one of them.

Using the scores from the National Merit Scholarship tests as the basis for judgement, Texas ranked somewhere below the top 15 and I would suspect way below. The magazine listed the top 15 and then listed a scattering of others without listing Texas. Surprisingly, California ranked 20th

Connecticut was first, followed by New York and District of Columbia. Even such states as Wyoming and Montana made it into the top 15, but not Texas.

The rankings were compiled by the number of juniors, from both public and private schools in each state, who had scored in the top 6% of those taking the 1965 test.

Texas passed up a golden opportunity to have the finest education system in the nation a number of years ago when the oil business was at its peak and the valuations were high. Instead of adding to this bonanza with taxes from other sources we just sat back and expected the oil money to foot all of the bills.

This was fine for awhile, but now, when we need more and more money to operate the schools to meet the higher standards of today, we find the oil money disappearing rapidly. And the citizens of Texas, who are used to someone else paying the bills, are not very enthused about coming up with the needed money.

Over the years it has been the salvation of the school children of Texas that oil people have been more interested in education than the rest of us. But it is somebody elses turn now,

The Junior High boys teams will be joined by the high school freshmen in hosting Stamford here Monday night.

The major change in this year's basketball schedule in contrast to previous years is a change from a joint boys and girls tournament to two separate events. The boys tourney will be held Dec. 1, 2, 3, and the girls will be held Dec. 15, 16, and 17.

Marvin Carlton Speaks to P-TA On New Programs

Marvin Carlton, principal of Hamlin Junior High School, was the speaker for the Thursday evening meeting of the Elementary P-TA in the high school auditorium. Theme for the meeting was The Individual Learner Comes First.

He said, "We mold ourselves and our children from the things we learn. We need opportunity and desire to learn."

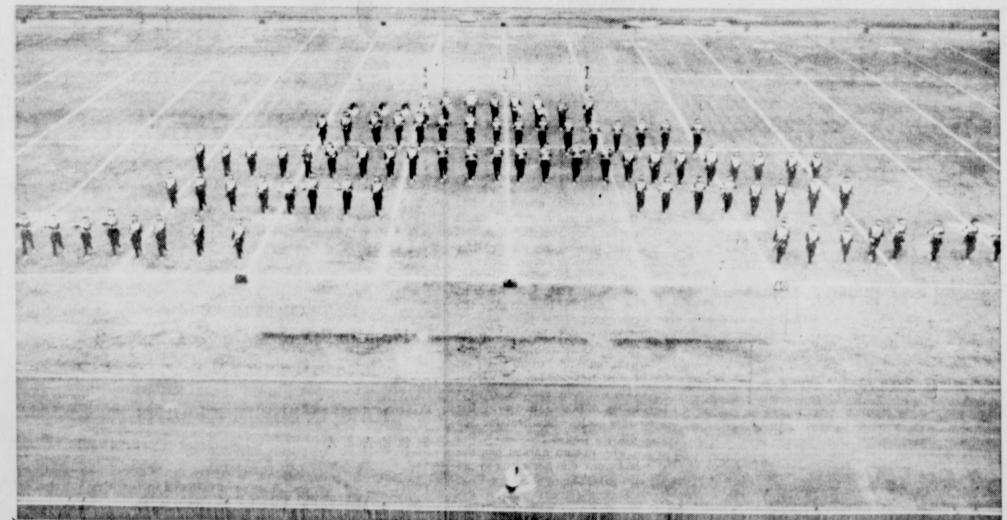

He also said that an educated person is not measured by the amount that he knows but how well he knows how and where to find facts.

The effectiveness of the Reading Program and the Head Start Program was emphasized. Through the reading program slow readers are accelerated using the latest teaching methods and equipment. The Head Start program held this summer was most beneficial as the 45 preschoolers were prepared for the first grade.

Mrs. Leldon Clifton's second grade room won room count.

The invocation was given by Rev. Marshall Stewart, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene.

The weather has really become mixed up again. After the killing freeze of November first everything was dead and it looked like winter. Then the weather turned warm and stayed that way and things are beginning to green up again. Weeds that had green roots left are growing, flowers are putting out again and even saw a field of something yesterday that had been cut or grazed, and it was growing again. But the main thing that needed to be killed, cotton and maize, stayed that

Had not been out in so long to look at the fields of cotton, so drove around quite a bit Sunday afternoon, had heard about the good cotton and knew it was there, but there is nothing like seeing it. It is almost unbelievable how much some of the cotton is making, haven't seen cotton like it since 1949 and then we gathered it as fast as it opened, now it is all on the stalk at once, a sight to behold. Some fields are gathered and plowed, but so many are still full of bales and bales of pretty white cotton. The weather man promises pretty weather this week,

Mr. and Mrs. John Raekler, Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Reed Lockhoof, Denton, Mr. and Mrs. Jodie Ford and baby, Hamlin, Spencer and Diane of the home, all make up their family now. Families grow in a hurry when two daughters get married in the same year.

Mr. and Mrs. Lockhoof, (Nancy Ford) were in church Sunday morning, all being glad to see them out, since it is but natural for the folks that have watched Nancy grow from a baby to be interested in meeting her husband.

The wasps have invaded the church again and it is taking lots of spraying to keep them down enough to have services. They are hunting a winter home again and what better place could they find to hibernate than a church house.

The Vernon Mayfields, who are living in Arizona, have come in to their farm home to stay until after the first of January.

It was a rather sad bit of news when we read that the Prairie View church, which is a rural church in the old Sinclair Community, had moved into Anson and combined with the Second Baptist Church. The pastor of the Prairie View Church, Rev. Carl Ingram, will pastor the church and the old church house will be made into a home for the pastor. This sounds better than disbanding, which is what so many of them are having to

Our church will have another business meeting next Sunday to discuss what we are going to do. Rev. Pattilli, Abilene has been preaching for us, but the time has come that something has to be done. So if you are a member and are interested in seeing our church continue, be there and have your say.

TSTA says it has rounded 000,000 a year pay raise. This, up considerable support in the Legislature and among education-support groups.

But the governor's committee voted not to make any reports on any phase of its far-reaching study until it has completed its research into all areas of public schools.

Chairman Leon Jaworski expressed confidence that Gov. John Connally will call a special session of the Legislature in 1968 to consider the committee's final recommendations.

A committee resolution recognized that salaries are important to staffing schools but added that other factors are just as vital in determining the effectiveness of teachers and administrators.

Without a committee recommendation, there will be sentiment among lawmakers to tell teachers they will have to THENCE West 1762 vrs. to wait another year for pay a stake set for the N. Decision is all the more difficult in view of an anticipated tax bill of well over $100,000,000 that is exclusive of the teacher pay question.

School Cost Record — Last years price of $647,516,534 for the minimum operation of Texas public schools set a record, but State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar says the "minimum foundation fund" will be even greater this year - $667,857,000.

Fund, which is distributed according to the needs of the school district and its average daily attendance, draws its resources from two state sources: the available school fund, including a fourth of all occupation taxes by the state. and other state revenues.

Highway Beautification -Texas faces the prospect of losing about $20,000,000 a year in federal highway funds." Lt. Gov. Preston Smith said, if it does not conform fully with the federal Highway Beautification Act of 1965.

Smith pointed out that in writing the Act the federal goverment included a 10 per cent penalty in federal aids to states that do not cooperate fully with the provisions of the new law.

State must fulfill its part by seeing that billboards and other outdoor advertising are moved back 600 feet from interstate and federal-state highways. Garbage dumps and junkpiles can be no close" than 1,000 feet. This would involve approximately 17,500 miles of Texas highways.

Tourist Development Talks "Imagination: Dare to Use It" will be the theme of the second annual Governor's Tourist Development Conference November 22 in Austin. Gov. John Connally will head the participants.

Experts in various fields of tourist development and tourist promotion will meet with delegates to the conference, along with administrators of Six Flags Over Texas and San Antonio's HemisFair '68.

Producers of upland cotton will vote Dec. 5-9 to determine whether a research and promotion order should be is- cotton producers, to be collecsued for upland cotton, the ted by cotton handlers desig-U. S. Department of Agriculture announced today.

Officials of USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service said the referendum will be through county ACS offices in conjunction with the upland cotton marketing quota referendum, but in a separate bal-

Approval by two-thirds of the producers voting, or by a majority of producers voting if that majority accounts for two-thirds of the cotton represented in the referendunt, is necessary for the order to become efective.

Today's announcement followed USDA's final decisions of the provisions to be included in the proposed order and on the regulations to be used for the referendum.

The proposed cotton research and promotion program would be administered by a Cotton Board composed of members nominated by cotton producing organizations and selected by the Secretary

C&MS officials said producers are eligible to vote in the referendum if they were "engaged in the production" of the 1966 upland cotton crop during calendar year 1966. The term "engaged in the production" is defined to include planting an upland cotton crop even though the crop is not harvested if the failure to harvest is not caused by the neglect of the farmer.

Those sharing in an upland cotton crop or proceeds from it, on a farm as an owner, cash tenant, sharecropped, share tenant, or landlord of a share tenant (except for a landlord of a standing rent, cash rent, or fixed rent tenant), shall also be considered engaged in the production of ators of a farm for which an acreage allotment for an upland cotton crop was established acoreding to the Agricutural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, but on which that crop was not prosidered to be engaged in the year in which that crop, if produced, would have been harvested.

This definition of "engaged in production" is also used in the marketing quota referenda

Each producer is entitled to only one "ves" or "no" vote in the referendum.

C&MS officials explained, however, that if it is neccessary to calculate the volume of production by voters to determine the out come of the referendum, county ASCS offices will make this calcula tion on the basis of their records of 1966 planted acreage and projected lint yield per acre for each farm.

Cotton acreage and profits could be going up, because people all over the world are buying more textile products.

But right now people are Luying products made from synthetic fibers. As a result, not enough of our fiber is being used. Our carryover of cotton is the highest in history, and our acreage is the lowest in almost 100 years. The message is crystal clear-if we want to keep on growing cotton at a profit, we must sell more cotton.

The only answer... Cotton Research and Promotion

Expanded research and promotion are cotton's only hope. With these same two tools, producers of higherpriced synthetic fibers have taken a total market now equal to nearly 7 million bales of cotton. They have gained over 2 million bales in the last 2 years . . . and new plants are scheduled with capacity equal to another 3.5 million bales.

Growers also can use these tools effectively. Experience has proved it. The only problem is to get enough money to use them on a big enough scale.

New legislation makes that possible. It enables farmers to vote, in a Beltwide referendum, on establishing a uniform assessment of $1.00 per bale for research and promotion. The law provides that individual farmers who do not want to participate can have their assessments refunded.

Funds from uniform collection will attract other money-more than two times as much on the average.

This plan originated with farmers. Thousands of growers and 61 cotton organizations across the Belt have endorsed it—overwhelmingly.

All projects must be initiated by grower trustees elected by cotton farmer organizations. Other provisions give equal assurance of producer control.

We, the undersigned, strongly endorse and recommend this uniform collection plan for research and promotion. We urge you to join us in working and voting for its approval in the upcoming referendum.

Help yourself to greater markets, acreage, profits

Dear editar:

Now that the elections are over I can get around to a piece of news I read in a newspaper a few weeks ago.

According to it, Congress has passed a bill allowing tax payers to indicate on their income tax form that they want one dollar of their money to go to financing the next presidential campaign.

It's figured that if 60 million people do this, the number who file income tax reports, that'll give 30 million apiece to the Democrats and the Republicans, so they can finance their campaigns without becoming beholden to private contributors

I have thought about this and, in the same way I handle most big problems, have come to no conclusions.

At the same time, however. I can detect a possible trend. If the people are going to be taxed, and that's what it amounts to, to finance the

NEWS AND VIEWS . . .

And What Have You

By BOB CRAIG

With Thanksgiving coming tomorrow—at least most of the subscribers to the Herald will receive their paper on Wednesday—we would like to share with you the following editorial from The Graham Leader. It is entitled "Caesar and God."

"Earlier this month millions of Americans went to the pol's to cast their ballots. It was a simple citizen's duty, but it was obviously misconstrued in some political quarters. From some of the oratory we got a definite impression that November 8 wasn't election day at all, but Thanksgiving — and grateful voters were expected to express thanks in a tangible way for protection from poverty, and for steady employment, high wages, long life, health and happiness, for care in infirmity. All emanating from the politicians, naturally.

"If ambitious, and possibly well-meaning, politicians want to confuse election day and Thanksgiving there can be no serious objection. They habitually confuse things. But we don't think that Americans generally will mistake one day for the other. With few exceptions, most Americans are well aware that the blessings they have that really count don't originate in Washington or in any State capital.

"You might say they see here a clear separation of Church and State. And having rendered unto Caesar whatever tribute was due him on November 8, Americans will recognize Thanksgiving for what it truly is: a time to render unto God the thanks that are due Him for the many blessings He has seen fit to bestow upon us.

"There is no need to try to inventory these. Some we all enjoy in common while others are spread among us in greater or lesser measure. For example, all those reading these lines are blessed with the gift of life. Not all are blessed equally with good health. But all of us owe thanks to the Creator Who has substained us to this Thanksgiving.

"This is not intended as a Thanksgiving prayer, for such prayer is a personal matter. Rather it is just a reminder that this is the special time, unique in our country, for giving thanks 'to Him from Whom all blessings flow.'

"We hope that you will be able to spend Thanksgiving in the company of family and friends most dear to you. It's been our experience over the years that Thanksgiving had more meaning if it took three or four pumpkin pies to serve everybody."

"Which states turn out the best highschool students?" According to a report by The Council for Basic Education in Washington, D. C., as reported in this past Sunday's edition of "Parade" Texas surely was not one of them.

Using the scores from the National Merit Scholarship tests as the basis for judgement, Texas ranked somewhere below the top 15 and I would suspect way below. The magazine listed the top 15 and then listed a scattering of others without listing Texas. Surprisingly, California ranked 20th.

Connecticut was first, followed by New York and District of Columbia. Even such states as Wyoming and Montana made it into the top 15, but not Texas.

The rankings were compiled by the number of juniors, from both public and private schools in each state, who had scored in the top 6% of those taking the

Texas passed up a golden opportunity to have the finest education system in the nation a number of years ago when the oil business was at its peak and the valuations were high. Instead of adding to this bonanza with taxes from other sources we just sat back and expected the oil money to foot all of the bills.

This was fine for awhile, but now, when we need more and more money to operate the schools to meet the higher standards of today, we find the oil money disappearing rapidly. And the citizens of Texas, who are used to someone else paying the bills, are not very enthused about coming up with the needed money.

Over the years it has been the salvation of the school children of Texas that oil people have been more interested in education than the rest of us. But it is somebody elses turn now.

The Junior High boys teams will be joined by the high school freshmen in hosting Stamford here Monday night.

The major change in this year's basketball schedule in contrast to previous years is a change from a joint boys and girls tournament to two separate events. The boys tourney will be held Dec. 1, 2, 3, and the girls will be held Dec. 15, 16, and 17.

Marvin Carlton Speaks to P-TA On New Programs

Marvin Carlton, principal of Hamlin Junior High School, was the speaker for the Thursday evening meeting of the Elementary P-TA in the high school auditorium. Theme for the meeting was The Individual Learner Comes First.

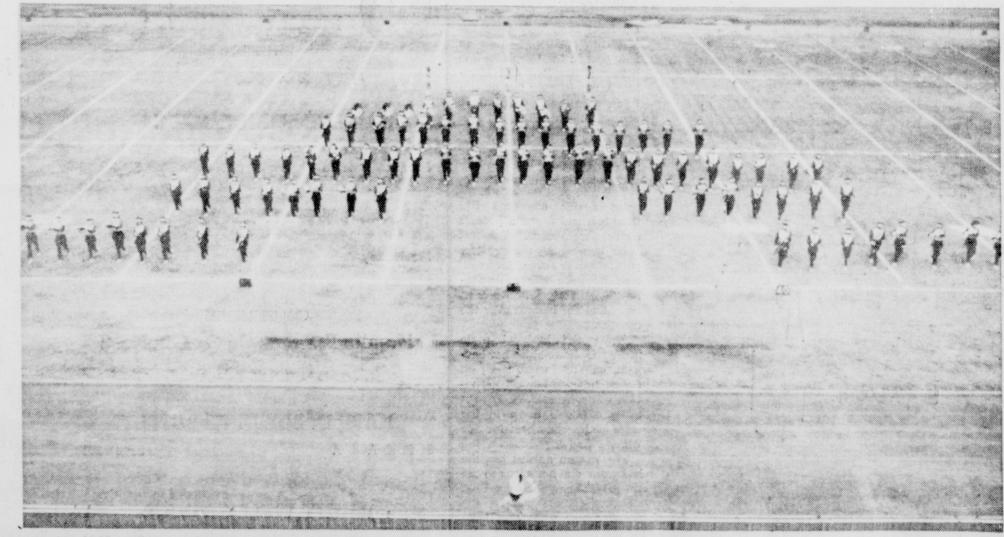

He said, "We mold ourselves and our children from the things we learn. We need opportunity and desire to learn."

He also said that an educated person is not measured by the amount that he knows but how well he knows how and where to find facts.

The effectiveness of the Reading Program and the Head Start Program was emphasized. Through the reading program slow readers are accelerated using the latest teaching methods and equipment. The Head Start program held this summer was most beneficial as the 45 preschoolers were prepared for the first grade.

Mrs. Leldon Clifton's second grade room won room count.

The invocation was given by Rev. Marshall Stewart, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene.

The wife of a western hardware dealer answered her door bell and found a peddler on the front porch.

He was selling the greatest potato parer ever invented. And he gave her a demonstration that convinced her at once, and she handed over the quarter.

When the husband came home she showed him her bargain, and told what she paid for it. Imagine her consternation when he said. "I have a gross of these down in the store and I sell them for 10c when I find a purchaser." The woman always has the last word, and her's was to the point. "Then for goodness sake, why don't you let the people know what you have for sale?" Moral: Advertise to your home town folks in your home paper-then your own wife won't ever "get stung."

By Mrs. Elmer Joiner

THE HAMLIN HERALD

The weather has really become mixed up again. After the killing freeze of November first everything was dead and it looked like winter. Then the weather turned warm and stayed that way and things are beginning to green up again. Weeds that had green roots left are growing, flowers are putting out again and even saw a field of something yesterday that had been cut or grazed, and it was growing again. But the main thing that needed to be killed, cotton and maize, stayed that

Had not been out in so long to look at the fields of cotton, so drove around quite a bit Sunday afternoon, had heard about the good cotton and almost unbelievable how much do. some of the cotton is making, haven't seen cotton like it since 1949 and then we gathered it as fast as it opened, now it is all on the stalk at once, a sight to behold. Some fields are gathered and plowed, but so many are still full of bales and bales of pretty white cotton. The weather man promises pretty weather this week, looks like the farmers need it.

Mr. and Mrs. Winson Gray went to Commanche Sunday celebration of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Wood, of that city.

Linda Goodwin was a surprised senior girl Friday night when she was crowned football sweetheart, at the football banquet. She was crowned by Larry McCoy, captain of the team, so this reporter had a double cause to be proud, as Linda is my niece and Larry, a grandson.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ford had all of their children home Sunday for the day. Mr. and Mrs. John Rackler, Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Reed Lockhoof, Denton, Mr. and Mrs. Jodie Ford and baby, Hamlin, Spencer and Diane of the home, all make up their family now. It was a rather sad bit of news when we read that the Prairie View church, which is a rural church in the old Sinclair Community, had moved into Anson and combined with the Second Baptist Church. The pastor of the Prairie View Church, Rev. Carl Ingram, will pastor the church and the old church house will be made into a home for the pastor. Texas faces the prospect of losing about $20,000,000 a year in federal highway funds," Lt. Gov. Preston Smith said, if it does not conform fully with the federal Highway Beautification Act of 1965.

Smith pointed out that in writing the Act the federal goverment included a 10 per cent penalty in federal aids to states that do not cooperate fully with the provisions of the new law.

State must fulfill its part by seeing that billboards and other outdoor advertising are moved back 600 feet from interstate and federal-state highways. Garbage dumps and junkpiles can be no closethan 1,000 feet. This would involve approximately 17,500 miles of Texas highways.

Approval by two-thirds of the producers voting, or by a majority of producers voting if that majority accounts for two-thirds of the cotton represented in the referendunt, is necessary for the order to become efective.

Today's announcement followed USDA's final decisions of the provisions to be included in the proposed order and on the regulations to be used for

> C&MS officials said producers are eligible to vote in the referendum if they were "engaged in the production" of the 1966 upland cotton crop during calendar year 1966. The term "engaged in the production" is defined to include planting an upland cotton crop even though the crop is not harvested if the failure to harvest is not caused by the neglect of the farmer.

This definition of "engaged in production" is also used in the marketing quota referenda

Each producer is entitled to only one "yes" or "no" vote in the referendum.

C&MS officials explained, however, that if it is neccessary to calculate the volume of production by voters to de termine the out come of the referendum, county ASCS offices will make this calculation on the basis of their records of 1966 planted acreage and projected lint yield per acre for each farm.

In 5 years how much cotton will you plant?

Can you save your acres and profits?

Cotton acreage and profits could be going up, because people all over the world are buying more textile products.

But right now people are auying products made from synthetic fibers. As a result, not enough of our fiber is being used. Our carryover of cotton is the highest in history, and our acreage is the lowest in almost 100 years. The message is crystal clear—if we want to keep on growing cotton at a profit, we must sell more cotton.

The only answer... Cotton Research and Promotion

Expanded research and promotion are cotton's only hope. With these same two tools, producers of higherpriced synthetic fibers have taken a total market now equal to nearly 7 million bales of cotton. They have gained over 2 million bales in the last 2 years . . . and new plants are scheduled with capacity equal to another 3.5 million bales.

Growers also can use these tools effectively. Experience has proved it. The only problem is to get enough money to use them on a big enough scale.

New legislation makes that possible. It enables farmers to vote, in a Beltwide referendum, on establishing a uniform assessment of $1.00 per bale for research and promotion. The law provides that individual farmers who do not want to participate can have their assessments refunded.

Funds from uniform collection will attract other money-more than two times as much on the average.

This plan originated with farmers. Thousands of growers and 61 cotton organizations across the Belt have endorsed it—overwhelmingly.

All projects must be initiated by grower trustees elected by cotton farmer organizations. Other provisions give equal assurance of producer control.

We, the undersigned, strongly endorse and recommend this uniform collection plan for research and promotion. We urge you to join us in working and voting for its approval in the upcoming referendum.

Help yourself to greater markets, acreage, profits

Dear editar:

Now that the elections are over I can get around to a piece of news I read in a newspaper a few weeks ago.

According to it, Congress has passed a bill allowing tax payers to indicate on their want one dollar of their money to go to financing the next presidential campaign.

It's figured that if 60 million people do this, the number who file income tax reports, that'll give 30 million apiece to the Democrats and the Republicans, so they can finance their campaigns without becoming beholden to pri-
